

A Habit of Lies

How Scientists Cheat!

What do you see here?

I am trying to persuade scientists who work on cellular dynamics that there is good evidence of waves on cells. They insist that there is no such evidence and refuse to discuss the matter further. So look at these pictures of cells taken from the scientific literature.

Can you see waves on them?

The "politically correct" answer is NO and, on that basis, millions of pounds have already been spent in research funding.

Is your answer YES?

You could easily become a scientific whistleblower.

The story's on my web site.

<http://www.ahabitoflies.co.uk>

John A. Hewitt

E-mail john.hewitt22@virgin.net

