

My Genealogical Newspaper Scrap Books

Extracted from 20c plus Newspapers

I first started to dissect my local Evening Newspaper in 1992 when I indexed the Family Announcements page(s)

In 1999 I decided to go one step further and cut out all the interesting articles, inquests, photos, in fact anything that took my fancy be it genealogical or just interesting.

Got a great picture of a 'Hoola Hooping Mouse'.

Must not forget either, the picture and article about the 'Garden Gnomes'. They had suddenly taken up residence on Swindon's well known Magic Roundabout.

All these, many, many, bits of paper finally made it out of the drawer and into several scrapbooks.

These I have just started to index.

Dissecting the Newspaper got quite a habit.

Soon I started on papers from other countiess, these will be listed some time in the future.

I do hope that you find an ancestor or Family member amongst these Lists.

NOTE: Those people who were living at the time of the article have only been indexed by surname.

If their surname is of interest then you should check the original Newspaper for the rest of the information.

Book-1a = Swindon Evening Advertiser, Swindon, Wilts, England.
